The X Gaps Killing Your Business Growth

When Digital, Employee, and Customer Finally Connect and Truly SHINE

"The gaps are not always obvious. But they are expensive."
Claire Boscq CSP & Andy Jarvis

— KEYNOTE SYNOPSIS

Most organisations are not failing because their people are not trying hard enough. They are struggling because everything is working in isolation, and the gaps between them are quietly killing growth. Digital systems are disconnected from the people who use them. Employees lack the tools, clarity, and culture to perform at their best. Customer eXperience remains fragmented, sitting across departments that rarely speak the same language.

In this high-energy Power Duo, Claire Boscq CSP and Andy Jarvis introduce a new way of thinking about experience as one connected system. By bringing Digital, Employee, and Customer eXperience together, they show how organisations can close the gaps, unlock performance, and create consistent, human, high-impact experiences. When everything connects, organisations do more than improve. They SHINE!

— THREE OUTCOMES FOR YOUR AUDIENCE

01

See the gaps for the first time.

Not as separate problems but as one connected challenge with a clear solution.

02

Think differently about growth.

The shift from fixing experience to aligning it changes everything. This is a growth strategy.

03

Walk away ready to act.

With the energy, clarity and conviction to move forward and truly SHINE.
